ATR VERDICT: Fort Smith returns to maiden company after some solid efforts in competitive handicaps at this track and has to enter calculations. There is a question mark over his willingness to get his head in front, though, so perhaps HECK THOMAS is the one to side with after improving significantly for his reappearance run when finishing second at this venue next time out. Mount Beckham can do better now stepped up in trip and Robin Des People showed encouraging signs when finishing fourth at Punchestown.

Top Tip: HECK THOMAS

Watch out for: FORT SMITH

ATR VERDICT: FELIX YONGER bounced back to winning ways over fences at Cork and might have too much class for these rivals back over timber. Golantilla hasn't had a straightforward time of things since finishing third in the Champion Bumper at the Cheltenham Festival in 2013, but has hinted at a revival in fortunes with his two efforts over hurdles this term, and might improve for the application of a hood and tongue-tie. Gerdago is shortlisted after running a cracker in defeat at Navan while Western Boy has plenty of ability on his day and wasn't beaten by far at Clonmel.

Top Tip: FELIX YONGER

Watch out for: GOLANTILLA

ATR VERDICT: PRINCELY CONN ran an excellent race to get within six and a half lengths of subsequent Grade 1 winner Nichols Canyon at Fairyhouse and makes plenty of appeal on his handicap debut. Mike McCann trailed that rival in sixth on that occasion but has won well at Navan since and might have more improvement to come. Cassells Rock finished fourth at Cheltenham in November and might need to go close if his handler wants to return for a potential engagement at that track in March. Shabra's Bertolini completes the shortlist after his success at Down Royal.

Top Tip: PRINCELY CONN

ATR VERDICT: SIZING GRANITE beat two future winners when getting back to winning ways at Naas and can build on that success before a possible visit to the Cheltenham Festival. Rocky Wednesday could be a big danger as he couldn't land a blow in Grade 2 company when last sighted but had scored at Down Royal prior to that and might find this a more realistic target. One Cool Shabra and Dysios were far from disgraced on their latest outings and cannot be dismissed either.

Top Tip: SIZING GRANITE

ATR VERDICT: SADLER'SFLAURE ran creditably from the front in the Thyestes Chase at Gowran Park but couldn't build on that when sent off favourite at Clonmel last time. He deserves another chance, but Colbert Station makes plenty of appeal too, as he may have fallen to a workable mark after finishing fifth at Fairyhouse and can find improvement in blinkers. Fever Pitch ran a cracker in ultra-competitive company at this venue in January and completes the shortlist.

Top Tip: SADLER'SFLAURE

Watch out for: COLBERT STATION

Long Handicap: Weslife 9 - 8

ATR VERDICT: FIVE O'CLOCK TEA was travelling well when he was brought down at Down Royal and deserves another chance from the same mark here. Easyondaye is another who hadn't played his hand when tipping up at Clonmel and can get on the premises with a better round of jumping. Final Gift is interesting after scoring between the flags as a new tongue-tie might bring about improvement and the booking of Bryan Cooper looks a big positive.

Top Tip: FIVE O'CLOCK TEA

ATR VERDICT: Cape City Boy scored impressively on his second outing at Down Royal and he will be tough to stop if reproducing that effort here. THE WEST'S AWAKE was behind that rival on that occasion, but might be able to reverse those placings, as he meets that rival on better terms this time around and sports a first-time hood which will hopefully help him settle more effectively. Tajseer shaped with plenty of promise when taking second spot at Ayr and won't need to improve that much to get on the premises again.

Top Tip: THE WEST'S AWAKE
