TIMEFORM VIEW: PRAIRIE TOWN could be hard to beat if building on a promising start over hurdles in a warm contest at Newbury recently. Spoils of War is one to note starting out in this sphere, while bumper-winner Glacial Rock is worth a look in the betting now back from a long absence.

- Duke of Navan: Useful hurdler who made winning chase bow at Carlisle (2m) in October but not seen since taking nasty-looking fall at Cheltenham following month. Should get back on track. [Forecast 1.33]
- Island Confusion: Bumper winner but something to find with his 2 rivals on what he’s shown over hurdles now his attentions are quickly switched to chasing. [Forecast 13.00]
- Just Cameron: Three-time winning hurdler around 17f and interesting on chase bow with trip/ground suitable. [Forecast 5.50]

Timeform View:
Duke of Navan can get back on track providing he’s none the worse after a nasty-looking fall at Cheltenham in November. Just Cameron wasn’t far off the selection’s level of ability over hurdles and looks an interesting rival on his chase bow.

Timeform says:
- MISTER MARKER: Plunging down the weights, but gradually lost the plot since last win at Kelso (23f) a year ago, folding tamely after going in snatches at that venue last month. (Forecast 13.00)
- CHAVOY: Back on song when breaking chasing duck at Newcastle (3m) in January. Just as good when placed both outings since, so no surprise if he was on the premises once more. (Forecast 4.50)
- EVERAARD: Decent strike rate over hurdles/fences. Back to form third try for this yard when a keeping-on second at Catterick (3m) earlier in the month. Fair claims if running to a similar level here. (Forecast 5.50)
- WHATS UP WOODY: Gone close to snapping long-losing sequence in recent months, possibly doing too much too soon when third at Kelso (23f) this month. Obvious player if carrying on in same vein. (Forecast 3.75)
- WALTZ LEGEND: Not disgraced returned to a handicap when mid-field at Down Royal (3m) this month, but more required to lift this. (Forecast 21.00)
- BERTIE MILAN: Bit more like old self after a trio of blips when runner-up at Musselburgh (3m) in January. Claims if repeating that, but others more reliable. (Forecast 9.00)
- SNUKER: Multiple chase winner who gamely exploited a lower hurdles mark at Kelso (27f) in January. Arrives here in good heart, but needs to scale greater heights to follow-up now back chasing. NON-RUNNER. (Forecast 1.00)
Jockey Colours: Royal blue, white stripe, purple cap
Jockey Colours: Royal blue, white stripe, purple cap
Timeform says: Back on the up when gaining third chase win over 25f here in January. Lesser efforts since though, let down by jumping when pulling-up at Bangor this month.★★★★ (Forecast 13.00)

Long Handicap: Finaghy Ayr 9 - 13

TIMEFORM VIEW: WHATS UP WOODY has done little wrong since joining George Bewley, posting another solid placed effort off this mark at Kelso recently, and is worth siding with to end a frustrating spell. Everaard and Chavoy also arrive in good heart and are feared most.

- Timeform says:
  - CLAN CHIEF: C&D bumper winner who hasn’t showed a great deal either of his completed starts in maiden/novice hurdles. Quite possible switch to handicaps will see him to better effect, however. (Forecast 9.00)
  - SCIMON TEMPLAR: Opened chase account in the mud at Newcastle (20f) in December, but didn’t cover himself in glory back over timber in a C&D event next time. Unseated rider over fences latest. (Forecast 6.00)
  - WESTEND THEATRE: Little impact in bumper and 3 maiden hurdles last term, but more like it when fourth on return/handicap debut at Wetherby (20f) last month. Not dismissed despite dropping in trip. (Forecast 8.50)
  - BARABOY: Off the mark at Sedgefield in December, but followed that with 2 distinct lesser efforts. Gone well here previously, but he needs to put those lesser efforts behind him. (Forecast 9.50)
  - HIGGS BOSON: Showed little first 2 starts since returning from a lengthy absence this winter, but more positive signs when midfield in a 20f event here 2 weeks ago. Back in trip now. (Forecast 6.50)
  - UPLIFTED: Fair at best on the Flat, winning over 1m at Newcastle in April 2014, but yet to build on the promise of his Perh hurdling debut in September when still in the care of Kevin Ryan. (Forecast 11.00)
  - KILKENNY KIM: Bits of promise in bumpers and really positive signs in each of her last 2 starts over hurdles. Shaping like the winner before faltering late on here (20f) last month. Leading claims. (Forecast 3.75)
TIMEFORM VIEW: KILKENNY KIM suggested she is on a feasible mark when third over further here last month, and seems bound to go well. Higgs Boson took a step back in the right direction last time and makes some appeal, just ahead of the lightly-raced Westend Theatre.

Timeform 1-2-3:
1: KILKENNY KIM
2: HIGGS BOSON
3: WESTEND THEATRE

Timeform says:
- No 1: Free-going front runner who proved better than ever when scoring by 5 lengths over C&D last month. 6 lb higher mark makes life tougher, but dangerous granted his own way in front once more.★★★★☆ (Forecast 3.75)
- No 2: Formerly smart for Alan King though it's been over 2 years since his last success. Arrested the slide when runner-up over C&D last month from this much-reduced mark, but pulled up at Carlisle latest.★★★★☆ (Forecast 9.00)
- No 3: Scored over 20f at Perth last spring and added a couple of Flat successes to the tally at Musselburgh in the summer. Not disgraced either start over hurdles subsequently, and mark has fallen.★★★★☆ (Forecast 6.00)
- No 4: Largely creditable efforts over hurdles this term, landing Newcastle mares handicap and Wetherby novice event. Mark suffered as a result, but she should continue to give a good account.★★★★★☆ (Forecast 3.00)
- No 5: Kelso winner in April having rejoined this yard, and respectable efforts when hitting the frame 3 times late last year. Beaten when unseating last time.★★★★☆ (Forecast 7.00)

TIMEFORM VIEW: An open handicap with a punt taken on TITUS BOLT who arrives just 1 lb above his last winning mark, and didn't shape too badly at Musselburgh last time despite finishing only sixth. Bobs Lady Tamure is a consistent mare and should give another good account, as should recent C&D scorer Circus Star.

- Series of solid efforts since opening chasing account over 2m here but getting no help from the handicapper as a result.★★★★☆ (Forecast 7.00)
- Won at Worcester (2m) over the summer but probably high enough in the weights at present and behind when unseating 5 out at Wetherby last time.★★★★☆ (Forecast 10.00)
- In good heart since C&D success last month, shaping better than bare result particularly at Newcastle (3m) last time. One to consider.★★★★★ (Forecast 5.50)
- Poor efforts since second over 2m here in November. Easy enough to oppose.★★★★☆ (Forecast 21.00)
- Looked one to follow when landing bumper and maiden hurdle during 2012-13 campaign. Type to make a chaser and shaped well after a 2-year absence in 2m novice chase at Newcastle last month.★★★★☆ (Forecast 3.75)
- Dual winner of 2m handicap hurdles here last season but let down by jumping when well backed second run over fences here recently and longer trip not sure to suit ideally.★★★★☆ (Forecast 5.00)
- Should have come on for Wetherby return last month but remains high enough in the weights.★★★★☆ (Forecast 15.00)
TIMEFORM VIEW: NO DEAL shaped well after a long absence on his chase debut at Newcastle last month and can start making up for lost time with victory on his handicap debut back up in trip. Silverton is in good heart and looks the main danger ahead of Little Glenshee.

Timeform 1-2-3:
