ATR VERDICT: BETSEY TROTTER hit the crossbar on multiple occasions last season and she should take plenty of beating. The only time that she was not placed in 2017 was when she was last in a Group 3 behind U S Navy Flag in August. The likes of Encantador and Hawaam are other with good form to their names and they should be in the mix once again.

ATR VERDICT: CORAL BEACH showed enough promise when finishing third on her debut at Naas and, given her connections, the daughter of Zoffany should only improve for that run. Silver Service was not beaten far over C&D a few weeks ago and that performance suggests that she should be winning races this year, while Vocatus is another to consider. Count D'orsay, Dom Carlos and Evasive Power are newcomers who need monitoring in the market.

ATR VERDICT: SUMMERSEAT DREAM put in a huge career best to win at Tipperary on Monday and she will be hard to beat as long as those exertions have not left a mark. Early Call has been knocking on the door of late and should be in the mix once again, while Canford Art and It's All A Joke are others who make the shortlist for this competitive contest.

ATR VERDICT: ONEOVERYOU represents a yard in top form at the moment and she was an impressive winner at Dundalk in late March. An 11lb rise in the ratings for that success will obviously make life tougher for her but there may be more improvement to come. St Brelades Bay won two of his last four starts in 2017 and he has an obvious chance, and Alfredo Arcano and Snowstar have each-way claims.

ATR VERDICT: SOUTHERN FRANCE looks the pick of the three Aidan O'Brien runners on jockey bookings and shaped like a stayer with a bright future when winning at Leopardstown last weekend. He justified late market support well there, and could be even better now upped in distance at this undulating track. Stablemate Sizzling found the experience of the 1000 Guineas too hot to handle but should appreciate these calmer shores, while Whirling Dervish looks best of those away from the Ballydoyle runners.

ATR VERDICT: BIANCA MINOLA has been in great order since joining Richard O'Brien this year and followed up her 1m2f victory at Cork when scoring over 1m4f at Roscommon. She's been raised another 9lb but could improve again for this stiffer test. Scealai Aonair scored with plenty in hand over 1m2f at Clonmel and is unexposed over this longer trip. Recent Roscommon maiden second Minnie Dahill makes most appeal of the remainder.

ATR VERDICT: RAPTURE'S DELIGHT shaped with promise when second on debut at Dundalk and is expected to build on that effort now tackling this longer trip. Lucius Tiberius improved between runs last year and could feasibly take a forward step now granted this additional furlong on his seasonal return. Bit Of Banter's introductory fifth over 1m at Leopardstown wasn't devoid of promise in October and she's another to consider on her comeback.
