ATR VERDICT: FREED FROM DESIRE had to settle for a bronze medal when beaten just a short head in a bunch finish involving some useful horses at Redcar last time. Ivan Furtado's filly who is already a winner over six furlongs this season appears set for a another leading performance. Newcomers Katiejay and Mistress Of Love have to be respected considering their connections, while Irish raider Clonard Abbey and Beechwood Ella could build on their debut showings.

ATR VERDICT: Linda Perratt saddles course regulars Lucky Violet and Let Right Be Done, who have to be considered and the former will be looking to build on her third last time when two places ahead of track and trip winner MECCA'S SPIRIT. However, Michael Dods' can reverse form racing from just 1lb higher now having been slowly away and subsequently having had to take the longest route home that day. Irish raiders Eleuthera and Silvana Maria are others to consider.

ATR VERDICT: ACADIAN ANGEL and Be Bold were second and third over course and distance last time and John Quinn's filly, who was a winner off 12lb higher last season, can confirm that form and go one better here. Rebecca Bastiman's gelding has to go close off 1lb lower in the handicap, while Linda Perratt's duo of Stardrifter and Retirement Beckons could get involved.

ATR VERDICT: David O'Meara's Acrux has won four times this season and has to be considered after finishing third at Redcar on Saturday, while War Department and Dark Crystal have solid form over this track and trip to consider. Mike Smith's pair Chinese Spirit and Pudding Chare could surprise at the handler's local venue, but preference is for Mark Johnston's ultra-consistent Chelmsford winner BRANSCOMBE, who may have found his optimum trip now and can follow up off 5lb higher.

ATR VERDICT: A fascinating contest which sees two high-calibre handicappers, Not So Sleepy and Kings Gift, attempt to concede weight to some progressive rivals, and also sees last season's all-conquering Sepal make her seasonal bow. The lightly-raced Good Boy Alfie has the chance to build on his recent Hamilton success stepping up in trip, but preference is for track and trip specialist GLASSES UP, who has landed three C&D contests this term and can play a leading part once again.

ATR VERDICT: Bossipop and Pomme De Terre both went close on their most recent outings and have to go close once again if in the same form, while course specialist Jessie Allan very much comes into calculations back in trip to six furlongs. However, DUNCAN OF SCOTLAND took advantage of an enticing mark over course and distance two starts ago and ran a cracker behind Yes You off his current rating here on Saturday. With the latter penalised for that win, Lee Smyth's Irish raider can exact his revenge.

ATR VERDICT: Kibaar had Redeeming over a length back in second when successful over C&D last time, but he reopposes on 6lb worse terms so is not guaranteed to frank that form. Burmese Blazer went close at Musselburgh and could be in the mix, but preference is for PILLAR, who seemed to bounce back to form when second at Down Royal and he went close when tried here last season.

ATR VERDICT: Remember Rocky is no stranger to this course and distance and keeps threatening to take top spot, while Kuiper Belt struck over 2m at Musselburgh on Friday and over 1m7f here on Saturday so has to be given a chance, despite the large drop in trip. Lucky Red went close when last tried here and was not too far away at Sligo last time, but a chance is taken that Jim Goldie can strike with recent acquisition PAMMI. In great form on the all-weather for Anthony Carson, she has joined a yard who love winners at this track.
