ATR VERDICT: Lady Writer has secured back-to-back successes in handicap company at Punchestown and Leopardstown, but a big drop in trip could count against her. Mandarin Monarch dead-heated for victory in a Fairyhouse handicap three starts ago and has run well in novice company since, but HALSAFARI gets the vote. A good winner of his maiden at Fairyhouse, Michael Bowe's charge returned to that venue to finish second on his handicap bow and there is more in the locker.

ATR VERDICT: IFYOUCATCHMENOW couldn't get her head in front in bumpers, but got off the mark at the second attempt over timber at Fairyhouse and should improve enough to land this prize for Willie Mullins, who also has claims with Robin De Carlow and Sapphire Lady. Moskovite ran a solid third in this grade at Clonmel and could be much happier down in trip, while Augusta Gold was not far away in handicap company last time but this will ask more of her.

ATR VERDICT: Captain Cj has obvious claims after running a close second at Navan but if CAREFULLY SELECTED returns to action in anything like his best form, he will be tough to beat. Willie Mullins' gelding was second in the Champion Bumper at Cheltenham last March and was third in the Grade 1 bumper at Punchestown after that. He hasn't been seen since, but is undoubtedly a quality prospect. Diamond Turf was disappointing at Navan but has claims here, while Spyglass Hill has shown plenty of consistency without winning of late.

ATR VERDICT: FATHER JED has won two of his last three in decent fashion and though he's been raised a total of 12lb for those successes, John Ryan's charge can continue in the winning vein. The veteran Seskinane is starting to look well handicapped if he retains most of his old zest, while Wee Small Hours has been edging closer to success with each run this year and is likely to take a hand in the finish. Peculiar Genius struggled over fences last time but is rated 15lb lower for this.

ATR VERDICT: Missy Tata made a triumphant return from a lengthy spell on the sidelines on her chasing bow at Fairyhouse, and she has won six on the bounce now, but her cause was aided by the fall of chief market rival Moyhenna, whose jumping has let her down again since.

REDHOTFILLYPEPPERS wasn't as good a hurdler as Gordon Elliott's mare, but she created a really striking impression on her first try at fences at the Christmas meeting here and is perhaps open to that bit more improvement.

ATR VERDICT: It is hard to believe that Mall Dini is still eligible for this race given his excellent efforts in defeat behind the likes of Presenting Percy, Edwulf and Great Field, as well as his second in last year's Kim Muir. He is as short as 25/1 for the Grand National and this trip is sharp enough for him so he is reluctantly passed over in favour of DAKOTA MOIRETTE, who has been acquitting himself well off marks in the high 120s in handicap company. Thosedaysaregone could also get involved on his fencing bow.

ATR VERDICT: ROCKY'S SILVER's hat-trick bid may have fallen short at Tramore on New Year's Day, but he was only beaten four lengths into fourth and there is more to come from him on just his seventh outing under Rules. Cappacurry Zak bounced back to form when runner-up over timber at Limerick but is 7lb higher here. He still has to be considered, as do Capture The Drama and Glorious Galway in a wide-open affair.
