TIMEFORM VIEW: Ex-pointer TIMBERMAN showed plenty of ability in a bumper on his Rules debut and is very much the type to take to hurdling at the first attempt, so he's taken to make a winning transition at the expense of his talented stablemate Daphne du Clos, who returns from another lengthy absence. Fiddlerontheroof is the pick on what's been achieved over hurdles.

He could be the answer to what is a trappy race, with Lord of The Island feared most, though market support Taj Badalandabad on belated return would look significant.

TIMEFORM VIEW: An interesting renewal featuring 2 previous winners. However, the vote goes to one tackling this race for the first time, with DEFI DU SEUIL taken to confirm last month's Cheltenham superiority over Politologue. Paul Nicholls' charge should go well as he bids to land this for the second time but it could be that a bigger threat emerges from 2016 scorer Un De Sceaux.

TIMEFORM VIEW: A cracking renewal with the vote in favour of VINNIE LEWIS. There is an air of unfinished business about him in staying handicap chase events and, having blown the cobwebs away at Sedgefield in October, a big showing can be expected under Aidan Coleman. Dragon d'Estruval, who caught the eye at Ascot, Classic Ben and Step Back rate next best, whilst Get On The Yager is no forlorn hope either.
