ATR VERDICT: SPRING CAMPAIGN has displayed some promise in both of her previous starts and the daughter of Dandy Man merits plenty of respect this evening, especially as a mark of 64 appears to be fair. Kaafy was disqualified from his second-placed finish at Catterick earlier in the week, due to weighing in light, but he could provide his supporters with some compensation today. The shortlist is completed by Far From A Ruby and One Above.

ATR VERDICT: APRES DARK was an impressive winner on his debut at Newmarket in June and Marco Botti's colt merits the utmost respect this afternoon, despite having to carry a 7lb penalty for that victory. The Princes Poet outran odds of 66/1 to finish third on his racecourse bow at Goodwood and he is a clear threat to the selection. Eva Icon failed to build on her first outing at Chepstow last time but she is still the pick of the remainder.

ATR VERDICT: DANDYS DERRIERE is very hard to oppose after he was beaten just a head on his debut at Newbury by a subsequent Group 3 winner. With that experience now under his belt, Brian Meehan's gelding should take plenty of stopping this afternoon. The rest with form do not inspire much confidence which means that any market support for either of Air To Air or Luckiness would have to be noted.

ATR VERDICT: SHESADABBER was unable to land the hat-trick on her most recent start at Ayr when attempting to follow up a brace of victories at Hamilton. However, she has held her form nicely over the past few weeks and appears capable of taking another step forward. Independence Day has been in consistent form since the resumption of racing and he is likely to be in the mix along with Terri Rules, who placed at Lingfield on her latest start.

ATR VERDICT: ESCALADE (third) finished ahead of Choral Work (fifth) at Ripon last month and Sir Mark Prescott's filly can confirm that form with the application of cheekpieces potentially bringing about further improvement. Choral Work was disappointing that day but a repeat of her Haydock success in novice company would give her every chance, while En Famille is likely to be suited by the step back up in trip and a first-time visor.

ATR VERDICT: BIZZI LIZZI created a good impression when scoring at Newmarket on debut and the extra furlong should only bring about improvement as she looks to enhance her reputation. Mountain Dreams is another first-time winner to consider and did little wrong when victorious at Yarmouth. Bint Australia was mugged late on at Pontefract and will be on the scoresheet sooner rather than later, while Date In Vegas was third to Ricetta on her first outing and could better that effort now.

Vivacious Spirit was only beaten a neck when second in that contest and is also right at the top of the shortlist, while Freedom And Wheat went close on the same card and is another to note.

ATR VERDICT: WRATH OF HECTOR, a winner at Yarmouth on his penultimate start, travelled nicely for a long way when fourth at Lingfield last week and had to take the widest path of all for most of that 6f contest. The move up to 7f will suit and the return of Silvestre De Sousa to the saddle is a positive. Malmesbury Abbey was a beaten favourite when fourth at Kempton last time and is interesting on his first appearance of the summer, while the useful Rock Of Redmond has shaped nicely since the restart and can't be ignored.

Top Tip: WRATH OF HECTOR (6)
