ATR VERDICT: The Showcasing filly PETITE AMIE was pitched into a Listed race on debut over this course and distance and acquitted herself creditably, finishing in front of the more experienced Mooneista. The form hasn't been boosted by the three that were in front of her but, with a stands' side draw likely to be an advantage, she can go well back in maiden company. Hyde Park Barracks has been placed a couple of times but looks beatable at this stage in second-time blinkers, while the maiden in which Larado finished down the field on debut has produced a lot of winners and he's of interest down in trip with first-time headgear. Stribling and Minsky were first and second in a recent 'barrier trial' which will stand to them here in terms of experience, but Sloane Peterson may not be totally suited by this sharp 'five' after keeping on well over a furlong further on her debut at the Curragh.

Top Tip: PETITE AMIE (8)
