ATR VERDICT: STAMP YOUR FEET was successful on his debut for Enda Bolger at Roscommon last month and he might be able to follow-up now. A four-time winner in the UK when trained by Tom George, the son of Galileo came from off the pace to win going away at Roscommon. He went up just six pounds for that success and looks capable of defying the rise. Quantatmental is an interesting contender on his handicap debut and the Gavin Cromwell trained five-year-old is given second preference. A dual winner over flights last year, the son of New Approach finished second to Capuccimix on his penultimate start at Naas. He since finished down the field over hurdles at Downpatrick, but looks capable of making his presence felt here off a mark of 123. Gordon Elliott saddles Cecil Corbett and Final List with both warranting respect. Top-weight Ask Nile has solid each-way claims, while Crazywork De Vassy and five-time winner Persian Wind are others to consider in this competitive heat.
