ATR VERDICT: Today could finally be the day for GLOW WORM. There is a deluge of rain expected before racing in Fairyhouse and she looks best placed to handle testing ground. She is a 20-race maiden but to her credit she has been placed no less than 11 times. Jack Davison's filly came in runner-up on soft ground at both Navan and Roscommon. Luke McAteer's 5lb claim is a bonus. Seven Worlds has a string of 'duck eggs' to his name but he may run better than his odds would imply. He has snippets of form on testing conditions including behind the progressive Champers Elysees in a valuable auction race at the Curragh. On his last start, he was unplaced in Navan but was beaten just over three and a half lengths. New headgear is tried on Cool Vixen, Royal Hideaway and Is That Love to try and eke out a bit more from them.
