EXPERT VIEW: This trappy maiden can got the way of the once-raced KESTA. Although not much went right for the gelding in that debut run, he picked up nicely late on to finish second. He may have been a surprise to connections sent off at 20-1, but showed good pace from an unpromising postion. Alkuwarrior improved from debut to finish a close-up second last time, acts on the ground, has an experience advantage over the selection and poses a feasible threat. The unraced Dapper Charm and Buenos Dias look the part on paper. Both hail from yards well up to sending out first-time-out winners. It would be no surprise to see either colt being sharp enough to win on debut.
