ATR VERDICT: Having come good at the second time of asking between the flags, the JP McManus-owned HARRY LOWES could prove a useful prospect now debuting under Rules. The Walk In The Park gelding has enough speed in his pedigree to cope with an extended 2m and he edges the vote over Kado Sacree. Olly Murphy's charge boasts a similar profile and market support could prove significant. French import Aguellid - also in the McManus colours - is of interest too.

Top Tip: HARRY LOWES (4)
Watch out for: KADO SACREE (5)

ATR VERDICT: Having maintained his unbeaten record over hurdles in a Listed event here in February, Fingle Bridge merits plenty of respect on his opening bid over the larger obstacles. He boasts all the attributes to excel in this discipline and isn't taken lightly, but Grade 1 winner LULAMBA will prove a tough nut to crack. Nicky Henderson's Triumph Hurdle runner-up is an exciting prospect for novice chasing and the sky looks the limit. Salver and Tripoli Flyer add further spice to the mix.

ATR VERDICT: There was plenty to like about A PATH TO RONDA's winning hurdles bow at Stratford and she looks more than capable of defying a 7lb penalty. Supreme Malinas finished just behind the selection in a Listed bumper at Sandown in March and is feared most on her first appearance over timber. Merely A Detail has placed in both outings over obstacles and is the pick of the remainder.

ATR VERDICT: REALLYNTRUTHFULLY bolted up on his chasing bow at Fontwell last month and although 7lb higher now, that experience could be crucial. The son of Jet Away can use it to his advantage and he might need to to repel the challenge of dual novice hurdle winner That's Nice, who makes her fencing/handicap debut. Others to note include Pony Soprano and Barlovento.

ATR VERDICT: The vote goes to point-to-point winner SPECIAL JOHN, who posted a number of creditable efforts over hurdles last term. Now in the care of Sam Thomas, whose team is in excellent form, he can progress for the switch to fences and continue that trend. Mythe Bridge shouldn't be far away if ready to roll on his seasonal return, while Moonlight Artist heads the remainder.

ATR VERDICT: HENRYSBROTHERJACK was on a sharp upward curve when last seen, winning three of his last four starts, although he is 8lb higher on his return to action. However, the yard could hardly be in better form and given that he has shown versatility regarding ground, it's possible he could find the required improvement. Diamatiste made a pleasing reappearance over C&D recently so must be considered, along with handicap debutant Jakar Du Moulin.
